Auto Accidents We Handle

Auto accidents come in many forms and have many causes. Aside from the drivers involved, road conditions, equipment malfunctions and other factors may all play a role in determining fault. A skilled auto attorney at MD's Shulman Rogers will take a broad view of the incident and look for creative ways to move your case forward. Specific cases we handle include:

- Car accidents: Auto accidents can have a number of potential causes, from unsafe road conditions to drunk drivers. We will assess your best options for obtaining compensation, whether they include going through your insurance company or launching a personal injury lawsuit against the responsible party.
- Truck accidents: Truck drivers are under considerable pressure to meet deadlines and move products across the country. While the majority are safe and responsible drivers, even a momentary lapse of concentration can have major consequences. Unfortunately for drivers and pedestrians who are the victims of truck accidents, transport companies invest heavily in legal representation in an effort to avoid expensive settlements. Don't let your recovery from an accident be compromised. Let the team at Shulman Rogers fight aggressively to get you a fair settlement.
- Motorcycle accidents: Accidents involving motorcycles are frequently more dangerous than a typical car crash. Even a minor incident can necessitate a long and painful recovery for the injured rider. For this reason, it's important to have legal representation while your claim is being settled. Whether or not you were at fault in the accident, you may have options for seeking compensation for medical bills and other expenses incurred during your return to health.

We understand that accident victims are vulnerable — especially in the immediate aftermath of a traumatic event. That's why we don't make extravagant promises or force you to accept legal assistance you don't need.
