Daniel P. Connors successfully represents individuals and families in a wide range of litigation cases involving personal injury, catastrophic auto collisions, wrongful death and medical malpractice. Clients appreciate that Dan is easy to communicate with, a good listener and always available to answer questions as they arise throughout a case. By fostering strong relationships built on trust and communication, Dan aims to guide his clients through complex legal matters with confidence and compassion.

Dan frequently represents individuals who have sustained serious injuries or families who have tragically lost a loved one due to the negligence of another party. His approachability and attentiveness place clients at ease as he navigates them through the legal process to an outcome intended to mitigate their pain and suffering. With over ten years of experience and a history of achieving favorable outcomes, Dan brings a wealth of knowledge and expertise to every case he handles.

EDUCATION

The State University of New York at Buffalo Law School, J.D., 2013

The State University of New York at Buffalo, B.A., 2010

Prior to joining Shulman Rogers, Dan worked at a reputable boutique law firm in Baltimore City successfully representing clients in personal injury, medical malpractice and commercial litigation matters. He also worked at the Maryland Appointed Attorneys' Program, advocating for indigent criminal defendants during their initial bail hearings. In addition to his law firm experience, Dan clerked for the Honorable Judge Michael A. Telesca of the United States District Court, Western District of New York. He completed internships at the United States Attorney's Office and Erie County District Attorney's Office, where he learned from esteemed trial lawyers. Dan's multifaceted background provides him a comprehensive viewpoint on his cases, allowing his clients to benefit from his perspective.

When he is not in the office or courtroom, Dan enjoys spending time with his wife, son and two dogs, exploring the greater DMV area and creating cherished memories with friends and family.
